

Assessment of the types of public building maintenance contracts in Saudi Arabia

Detailed investigation of randomly selected maintenance contracts for government agencies and accepted definitions of the five major types

Authors: Abdul-Mohsen Al-Hammad ^a; Sadi Assaf ^a; Tali Al-Hazmi ^a

Affiliation: ^a College of Environmental Design, King Fahd University of Petroleum and Minerals, Dhahran, Saudi Arabia

DOI: 10.1080/09613219608727556

Publication Frequency: 6 issues per year

Published in: Building Research & Information, Volume 24, Issue 6 November 1996 , pages 358 - 362

Languages: English

Abstract

The study revealed that Fixed Price, Cost Plus and Purchased Labour contracts are the top three maintenance contracts adopted whilst Unit Price, Cost Plus A Percentage Fee contracts are alternatives used in the Kingdom. Some other types of maintenance contract were thought to be inappropriate by ministry departments.

Full text is subjected to copy right of the journal