Journal of Comparative Social

An International Journal founded by Brij Mohan

Journal of Comparative Social Welfare is a refereed international forum designed to promote interdisciplinary inquiry and research. It encompasses all scientific-academic fields dealing with social welfare including social work, social policy, social development and planning. It aims to:

- Seek interdisciplinary linkages that facilitate communications between social structures, organizations and academic disciplines
- Promote comparative analysis as a valued method of social research
- Synthesize theory and practice integrating empirical and qualitative designs
- Encourage intellectuals to think critically and act globally
- Explore strategic policy and research directions that help mitigate cross-cultural issues
- Strengthen international dialogue and disseminate information helpful to alleviate world social problems (AIDS, poverty, inequality, violence, oppression, disasters and other forms of dehumanization)
- Serve as a catalyst to promote international understanding, peace, human rights and social justice

This journal replaces its previous editions under the titles of Journal of International and Comparative Social Welfare (1984-1994) and New Global Development: JI&CSW (1995-2005).
