

Teaching Statement

My dear student:

Don't believe in what I will teach you, don't trust me. I will show you classic, genius and glories theorems; and I will give you proof of what I will tell you. However, if you don't fall, if you don't take it as granted and find a way to think twice, then you will be the star of tomorrow.

If you are just small, shy and anxious, if you are almost paranoid and turn around each stone looking for hidden pitfalls and gaps, if you, in your anxious fear, close each door and window, fix each broken wall and seal the gaps, then you will learn to understand things in detail. Sooner or later your colleges will find out, they will come and will ask you for advice. This will encourage you and grow your confidence. It will change you and your life. You will finish your studies as a real master, will find a good job and will make your way.

It is elevating to see this happen. I am your assistant, I am looking forward to stay on your side, and I will enjoy seeing you making your way.

Your trusty teacher,

Uwe Schauz
