GIScience 2004 is the follow-up meeting to the highly successful GIScience 2000 and 2002 conferences with over 300 researchers attending each time. GIScience 2004 will again bring together scientists from academia ,industry, and government to analyze progress and to explore new research directions. It will focus on emerging topics and basic research findings across all sectors of geographic information science. The conference program aims to attract leading GIScience researchers from all fields to reflect the interdisciplinary breadth of GIScience, including cognitive science, computer science, engineering, geography, information science, mathematics, philosophy ,psychology, social science, and statistics. GIScience 2004 is organized by the National Center for Geographic Information and Analysis ,the Association of American Geographers ,the Association of Geographic Information Laboratories Europe , and the University Consortium for Geographic Information Science.National Center for Geographic Information and Analysis
